PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Donald E. Ross, President

“Everyone, no matter what their stature in our University family, has been an important factor in our success.”

Lynn University has completed its “Year of Jubilee,” a wonderful year commemorating our founding thirty years ago. It was a very special year marked by major milestones in the life of our young University. Beginning with our transition to university status in September and culminating with Commencement in May, the months were filled with people and events that will contribute significantly to the future of Lynn University.

I wanted to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to everyone who has played a role in the growth and development of Lynn University — from our very generous benefactors to our dedicated and committed faculty, administration, and staff. Everyone, no matter what their stature in our University family, has been an important factor in our success.

Continuing in the vein created last year, we have planned an exciting 1992-1993 with a speakers series titled “Frontiers in Globalization” and a Renaissance Festival Month featuring paintings, artifacts, and lectures. A calendar of activities is included in this edition of TODAY. I hope you will have the opportunity to participate in the events and look forward to sharing another special year with you.

COMMENCEMENT 1992

One hundred seventy-five graduates were granted Master, Bachelor, or Associate degrees during Commencement Exercises in the Lynn Student Center on May 2. The standing-room-only audience included family and friends of the graduates, as well as trustees, overseers, faculty, administration, and staff of the University.

Melissa Santanelli, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, was the student speaker and welcomed the graduates and guests.

John Hannifan, Chairman of the Board of Overseers, presented the Distinguished Alumni Award to Joseph and Mary Veccia. Residents of Boca Raton, Joe and Mary graduated from the Funeral Service program in 1988 and 1989, respectively.

Jennifer Braaten, Vice President for Academic Affairs, presented the Outstanding Teacher Award to Ralph Norcio. The award is especially significant since the student body elects the recipient. Ralph is an Assistant Professor of Business and Finance in the School of Business. In addition to the plaque presented at Commencement, Ralph received a personalized Lynn University chair.

COMMENCEMENT

The Associate Degree Award is given to the student who has maintained the highest grade point average in a two-year program. Hugh Carville, Trustee, presented the award to Deborah Anne Almeida, Associate of Science in Funeral Service.

The President's Award is given, in special cases, to the student exhibiting extraordinary service and commitment to the University. Leslie Alice Kent, Bachelor of Arts, receives the award from J. Donald Wargo, Trustee.

The Medina McMennen Bickel Fashion Award recognizes the graduating senior who exhibits outstanding leadership and the potential for a successful career in the fashion industry. Dina Bickel is shown presenting the award to this year's recipient, Candace Lea Sargent, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Mary Rose Main is National Executive Director of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., the largest voluntary organization for girls and women in the world. Ms. Main has played a leadership role in increasing girl scout membership to its present total of more than three million, the highest in eighteen years. Colette Mahoney, Chairman of the Board, presented the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters.

After serving in the U.S. Air Force, Nathaniel Pryor Reed began his civilian career as a manager of the family real estate and hotel business. His concern with the environment soon steered him into public life and eventually led him to serve five Florida governors. Over the years, he has been involved in every aspect of Florida's environmental problems. He has served on numerous local and national environmental organizations. Ray Osborne, Trustee, presented the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters.

Michael Boden, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, is shown receiving The Humanitarian Award from Frank Robino, Trustee. The award is given to the graduating senior who has exhibited outstanding loyalty to the University community.

Alfred C. Haynes has enjoyed a distinguished career as a pilot with United Airlines for thirty-six years. In July, 1989, Captain Haynes was Pilot-in-Command of a flight bound for Sioux City, Iowa, when an engine explosion crippled the aircraft. Against overwhelming odds, Captain Haynes led his crew in the safe landing of the plane and almost two hundred people survived what could have been a major disaster. Pictured are President Ross, Captain Haynes, and Dr. Mahoney. Jim Matthews, Professor of Aviation and Business, presented Captain Haynes with the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters.

The James J. Oussani Award is presented to the student who has been judged to be the most innovative and motivated in completing a degree program. Gregory Dustin Reichman, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, is shown receiving the award from J. Murfree Butler, member of the Board of Overseers.

Scholarship, leadership, loyalty, and service are recognized in the student receiving The Trustees' Medal. Christine Lynn, Trustee, presents the medal to Cynthia Cergueira, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Six graduates filled the criterium for the Bachelor Degree Award: maintaining the highest grade point average in a four-year degree program. The honorees, who all graduated with a 4.0 grade point average, were: Debra Ferdinand, Bachelor of Science in Hospitality Administration; Michael Nieuchowicz, Bachelor of Professional Studies; Niyati Patel, Bachelor of Science in Hospitality Administration; Melissa Santanelli, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration; Robert Henry Schwartz, Bachelor of Professional Studies; and Sara Wilson, Bachelor of Science in Hospitality Administration.

SCRAPBOOK

ur 1992 summer cruise can best be described in terms of three "greats"—great company, great ports of call, and great memories! Beginning with a wonderful trip to Bath and the Cotswolds and culminating in a special visit to Dublin arranged exclusively for the Lynn University contingent, the British Isles proved to be a captivating experience.

From Ireland, the group sailed to Portugal and Spain, ending up in Barcelona just in time for the start of the Olympics. All in all, it was an exciting time for all thirty participants in the Lynn University Summer Cruise—with three birthdays and a wedding anniversary celebrated, as well as many friendships and lasting memories formed. Already, we're thinking about next year's itinerary and hope that many friends and alumni will come along.

SHORT TAKES

Lynn University Knights — 1991 NAIA National Soccer Champions

INTERNATIONAL EMPHASIS

President Ross recently had the opportunity to visit the University of Stockholm with whom Lynn University has an articulation agreement. Dr. Patrick Butler, Professor of Marketing and Management at Lynn, spends his summers there as an exchange professor and four LU students are enrolled in the cooperative business program. Dr. Ola Fuerst will be a visiting faculty member at LU for the Fall semester. He will live on campus and teach graduate and undergraduate courses in International Business and Marketing.

While in Europe, President Ross also met with Dr. Alexander Zapesotski, President of the newly founded St. Petersburg University of Humanities and Social Sciences in Russia. They will meet a second time to discuss academic issues of mutual interest to both universities.

CLASSROOM DEDICATION

Faculty, administration, and staff attended the dedication of a classroom in honor of Dr. Thomas P. Robinson, Provost Emeritus of the University. Dr. Robinson has been involved in all aspects of higher education from teaching to administration. He continues to consult in higher education and lecture on the topics of Irish Immigration History and the Irish American Revolution.

SOCCER WORLD COLLEGIATE GAMES

Lynn University's men's soccer team, the 1991 NAIA National Champions, played in the World Collegiate Games in El Paso, Texas, and Juarez, Mexico, in early May. Competing against collegiate soccer champions from Mexico, Brazil, Switzerland, Germany, and Japan, the Knights posted a 0-2-1 record in the world cup format games.

COUNTESS DE HOERNLE TEAS

We were especially pleased to introduce a series of Afternoon Teas in The Christine Room hosted by the Countess de Hoernle during this past Spring. The Teas are scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month from October through April, beginning at 3:30 p.m. A lovely menu including a variety of tea sandwiches, scones with jam and cream, and a wonderful assortment of sweets adds to a very pleasant way to socialize with old friends and make new acquaintances. Proceeds from the Teas benefit the Lynn University Scholarship Fund. For additional information, please contact Jan Glitz, Assistant Vice President, Lynn University.

RECOGNITION BREAKFAST

Lynn University faculty, administration, and staff were presented with service awards during the annual Recognition Breakfast. President Ross praised the honorees for their dedication, commitment, and hard work. The following were recognized:

Richard McCusker, Trustee, was honored for his many years of involvement with the University. He has been associated with the University since it was Marymount College in the 1960's.

THE BERTE AND BERNIE COHEN INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

Each year hundreds of international students from almost every country of the world come to Lynn University. Though their primary goal is to pursue a course of study, it is hoped that they will think of their education in a broader sense by exploring the local community and learning American culture.

International students are excellent resources for Americans who wish to learn of other cultures and different points of view. The presence of international students and scholars on campus and in the community results in cross-cultural relationships and provides opportunities to increase global awareness.

In keeping with the University's international flavor, President Ross announced the establishment of The Berte and Bernie Cohen International House made possible through a generous commitment from the Cohens. The purpose of the International House is to encourage individual contacts and sharing of a variety of social and professional activities. The mission is to provide the opportunity for mutual appreciation of different cultural patterns and national aspirations. The International House will develop programs and support services designed to enhance the education of international students and scholars by offering a variety of experiences, both on campus and in the community, which will ensure that optimum benefit is derived from the period of study in the United States.

Frontiers In Globalization SPEAKERS SERIES

Focusing on international dimensions, the Series will provide relevant perspectives on such contemporary topics as The Political Arena, Culture in the Arts, Japanese/American Interchange, and the Environment. A series of four luncheon symposia scheduled for the 1992-1993 academic year will engage area leadership and the University community in meaningful dialogue touching upon the above issues. The schedule follows:

October 14, 1992

Hugh Carey

Former Governor of New York

"The Political Arena"

November 20, 1992

Dona Karen Beck Olsen de Figueres

Former First Lady of Costa Rica

"Peace and Prosperity in the Arts"

January 26 or 27, 1993

George Fisher

CEO, Motorola

"Business Perspectives Relative to the Pacific Rim"

March 8 or 9, 1993

Nathaniel Pryor Reed

and other environmentalists will discuss issues relevant to the environment.

EXCALIBUR SOCIETY

President Ross announced the formation of the Excalibur Society, a premiere women's support organization committed to providing outstanding educational opportunities for Lynn University students through scholarship support.

Following a luncheon in April, Wilma Elmore, the Society's founding President, introduced her fellow officers: Joan Wargo, Vice President, and Mary Thom Osborne, Secretary.

Mrs. Elmore explained the goals of the Excalibur Society and invited memberships. The response has been overwhelming and during subsequent meetings, a full Board of Directors was selected. The following ladies have agreed to serve on the Board: Mary Thom Osborne and Eleanor Zaccagnini, Membership; Louise Hanford and Barbara Fox, Hospitality;

Mary Thom Osborne, Wilma Elmore, Christine Lynn, Joan Wargo

Berte Cohen and Mary Ann Perper, Programming; Barbara Liss and Joan Wargo, Ways and Means.

The Board has put into place a calendar of meetings for the upcoming year, as well as an exciting trip to The Kravis Center on October 25. The Excalibur Society General Membership Luncheon Meetings will be held on the fourth Wednesday of the month, October through April, at the University. For further information or to enroll in the Excalibur Society, please contact Jan Glitz, Assistant Vice President, Lynn University.

SOCIETY OF FAMILIES

The success of the Parents Association, which was formed just two years ago, has prompted requests to expand the program to include Grandparents and Alumni Parents. In response, a reorganization of the Parents Association is in progress. The new association will be called the Society of Families and consist of three groups: Parents Association, Grandparents Association, Alumni Parents Association.

The Grandparents and Alumni Parents Associations are natural extensions of the Parents Association. Grandparents often play a significant role in a student's education and we have come to realize that they would especially enjoy a more participatory role. Alumni Parents who have been active in the Parents Association continue to have an allegiance to the University and express the desire to stay involved.

Each group will have a Board of Directors and Committees. Committees will concentrate in the following areas:

Admissions — meeting new and prospective students and parents, attend college nights, telephone new and prospective students and parents.

Fund Raising — assist in the University's fund raising efforts.

Special Events — planning and hospitality for Homecoming Weekend, Society of Families Weekend, Orientation, and Commencement.

Communications — gathering information for a newsletter and communication between the Society and the University.

For additional information and membership applications, contact Jan Glitz at Lynn University.
